

Different, But the Same

Sarah Moss

Dordt College, sarah.moss@dordt.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcollections.dordt.edu/voice>

Part of the Christianity Commons, and the Higher Education Commons

Recommended Citation

Moss, Sarah (2019) "Different, But the Same," The Voice: Vol. 65: Iss. 1, Article 2.

Available at: <https://digitalcollections.dordt.edu/voice/vol65/iss1/2>

This From the Editor is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at Dordt Digital Collections. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Voice by an authorized editor of Dordt Digital Collections. For more information, please contact ingrid.mulder@dordt.edu.

FALL 2019

VOLUME 65 | ISSUE 1

The Voice, an outreach of Dordt University, is sent to you as alumni and friends of Christian higher education. The Voice is published three times each year to share information about the programs, activities, and people at Dordt.

www.dordt.edu
(712) 722-6000

Send address corrections and correspondence to voice@dordt.edu or VOICE, Dordt University, 700 7th Street NE, Sioux Center, Iowa 51250-1606

Contributors

Sarah Moss ('10), editor and writer
sarah.moss@dordt.edu

Jamin Ver Velde ('99), designer and creative director

Sally Jongsma, contributing editor

Kate Henreckson, contributing writer

Lydia Marcus ('17), contributing writer

Kirbee Nykamp ('08), contributing writer

Anneke Wind ('19), contributing writer

James Calvin Schaap ('70), contributing writer

Mike Byker ('92), contributing writer

Adri Van Groningen ('18), photographer

Ella Rynders ('19), photographer

Retasya Badudu ('20), photographer

Brandon Huisman ('10), vice president for enrollment and marketing brandon.huisman@dordt.edu

Our Mission

As an institution of higher education committed to a Reformed Christian perspective, Dordt University equips students, alumni, and the broader community to work effectively toward Christ-centered renewal in all aspects of contemporary life.

On the Cover

On move-in day in late August, the football team welcomed incoming freshmen, transfer, returning, and Pro-Tech students by helping them move into the dorms and apartments. Photo by Bethany Van Voorst.

Moss: Different, But the Same

DIFFERENT, BUT THE SAME

This year, my best friends from college came back to Dordt for Defender Days. With their babies in tow, we walked around and talked about how much campus had changed since we'd graduated almost 10 years ago.

Back when we were students, girls lived in East Hall. There was a road through the center of campus, from West Hall to Covenant Hall. Pine trees lined the path from Southview Apartments to the B.J. Haan Auditorium. Now, with the Science and Technology Center, the skywalk, the new nursing and theatre arts additions, campus looks much different than when we were students.

In some ways, Dordt feels like a more impressive place than when we attended. For example, Dordt has been named number one in student engagement in the nation for four years in a row by the Wall Street Journal and Times Higher Education. Dordt is now known as "Dordt University," and campus has been transformed.

Still, some things haven't changed. One afternoon during Defender Days, my friends and I ate lunch at the Grille, like we had when we were students. We recalled the professors who challenged us in a good way. We reminisced about the friends we made and the ways our faith had grown while we were Dordt students. And we talked about the everyday things—the books we were reading, the trips we hoped to take someday, the work we were doing. My Dordt friends and I picked right up where we left off, as if it hadn't been years since we'd last seen each other.

That's what we loved most about attending Dordt—the ways we were challenged and changed, whether through lifelong friendships, by our coursework, or in our faith life. Nearly 10 years may have passed since we were students, but we're still grateful for how our experience at Dordt shaped our lives.

Sarah Moss

SARAH MOSS ('10), EDITOR

IN THIS ISSUE

4 Students problem-solve and get stuck on Math 291.

8 David Temte, a junior who passed away in June, had a big heart and a vibrant spirit.

9 An engineering professor seeks to broaden the STEM identity.

16 Dordt's summer research projects work on bringing about a bit of restoration.

23 Khamko Baccam passed away in 1990, but his memory lives on.

27 Administration and faculty talk about what it means to stay true to The Educational Task of Dordt University.

36 Monique Lieuwen ('10) helps others experience how God is at work in the world.

