
Pro Rege

Volume 39
Number 2 Fine Arts Issue 2010

Article 2

December 2010

January 26: 28 Degrees and a Bright Red Sunshine

David Schelhaas
Dordt College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcollections.dordt.edu/pro_rege

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Schelhaas, David (2010) "January 26: 28 Degrees and a Bright Red Sunshine," Pro Rege: Vol. 39: No. 2, 3.

Available at: https://digitalcollections.dordt.edu/pro_rege/vol39/iss2/2

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at Digital Collections @ Dordt. It has been accepted for inclusion in Pro Rege by an authorized administrator of Digital Collections @ Dordt. For more information, please contact ingrid.mulder@dordt.edu.

January 26: 28 Degrees and a Bright Red Sunshine

David Schelbaas

This morning the Lord himself went out among the trees of the town and after brushing them with a coat of white enamel took a bucket of paint from a different shelf and topped off the taller trees in an iridescent magenta.
Of course the blackbirds thought it a dandy thing,
and the trees themselves gave him a hand,
but one school-marm angel, prim and proper,
who knew this was not the way things were done,
grabbed a can of standard white and quickly slapped it on the tops of the tall bright trees.

Down below, an earth-bound pilgrim walked to work with snow on the knees of his trousers.