

---

Pro Rege

---

---

Volume 38
Number 2 Fine Arts Issue 2009

Article 28

---

December 2009

Word Made Flesh

David Schelhaas
Dordt College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcollections.dordt.edu/pro\_rege

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Schelhaas, David (2009) "Word Made Flesh," Pro Rege: Vol. 38: No. 2, 38.
Available at: https://digitalcollections.dordt.edu/pro\_rege/vol38/iss2/28

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at Dordt Digital Collections. It has been accepted for inclusion in Pro Rege by an authorized administrator of Dordt Digital Collections. For more information, please contact ingrid.mulder@dordt.edu.

The Word Made Flesh

---

Dave Schelbaas

The fall came first and after that God's Word:
"The woman's flesh will crush the serpent's head."
And then for ages nothing new occurred.

No savior came; we knew not what we'd heard.
"All flesh is grass," the gloomy psalmist said.
We lived, begat and died—life seemed absurd.

Until, in Beth'lem, angel songs were heard,
The Christ was born and given a manger bed.
God had, at last, put flesh upon his Word!

Oh, with what joy each year we hail the Word
Made flesh and lift our praise to Christ our head,
Whose birth and death have stunned the Satan worm.

And in our joy this word of Christ we heard:
That after He had crushed the serpent's head
And banished sin, as King He would return.

So now we pray, "Come back, flesh out your word;
Leave heavenly rooms; come live with us instead.
Make all things new; expel all fear and dread.
Then only songs of triumph will be heard."