

---

Pro Rege

---

Volume 45
Number 2 Fine Arts Issue 2016

Article 7

---

December 2016

A Singing God

David Schelhaas
Dordt College

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcollections.dordt.edu/pro\_rege

 Part of the Creative Writing Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Schelhaas, David (2016) "A Singing God," Pro Rege: Vol. 45: No. 2, 8 - 9.
Available at: http://digitalcollections.dordt.edu/pro\_rege/vol45/iss2/7

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at Digital Collections @ Dordt. It has been accepted for inclusion in Pro Rege by an authorized administrator of Digital Collections @ Dordt. For more information, please contact ingrid.mulder@dordt.edu.

A quarterly faculty publication of Dordt College, Sioux Center, Iowa

A Singing God

---

Dave Schelhaas

The Lord your God will rejoice over you with singing. Zephaniah 3:17b

God sings? Who knew?
And He sings to us!

Of course the angels sing their glorias and hallelujahs.
And everyone knows God's people sing to him:
"Make a Joyful noise!" the psalmist says,
and we do, it seems, whenever more than two or three of us get together.

We know that Jesus sang. The rabbi and his disciples, after the Passover meal but before they headed out with cleansed feet toward Gethsemane and heartbreak,
"sang a hymn."

Was there a standard post-seder meal hymn?
Psalm 103, perhaps?
Did someone give the pitch?
Did this motley male choir harmonize?
Did they miss Iscariot's strong tenor or was he a monotone?
Did Jesus on this last night
stop singing from time to time and just listen?

Jesus, the God-Man, singing—

But now here's Zephaniah whose words I have left unread for sixty years or more,
telling us all—all of Abrahams's seed—
that Yahweh is bending over us singing and rejoicing
like a mama dreaming the future of her cradled babe.

How does he sing, this Spirit God who has no larynx with vocal folds,
no pharynx, trachea, diaphragm, or tongue?

Yet the prophet says he sings over us and surely he's not just talking about thunder, bird song, choir concerts, or even the "music of the spheres,"
that celestial hum
the Ancients said the planets made as they moved in their appointed paths.

No, it's God's voice I'm going to be listening for,
crooning a lullaby,
a love song,
a bit of blues, perhaps,
in a voice that may sound older than Satchmo's singing "What a wonderful world!"